SUMMARY OF DISCUSSION

- Committee members reviewed executive summaries of the DIMER and DIDER programs and agreed to post these documents to the DCHI website to raise awareness of the programs and their benefits.

- Representatives from the Graduate Health Professional Education Consortium relayed key takeaways from the initial Steer Committee meeting and emphasized the importance of developing a sustainable program.
- A representative from the Workforce Learning and Re-Learning Curriculum vendor provided an update on the first in-person training session and identified next steps to enhance awareness.
- Committee members reviewed draft a draft definition, scope of practice, and core competencies for Delaware Community Health Workers based on work completed by the Community Health Worker Subcommittee.
- The Committee discussed approaches in other states on implementing a single credential verification organization. Information on the legislative/rulemaking processes were shared along with an identification of key stakeholders involved in other states. An outline of next steps will be presented during the April Committee meeting.

PUBLIC COMMENT

- The Community Health Worker initiative should consider the disability and/or the LGBTQ populations in Delaware.
- Another member of the public whether health care physician burnout carries over to other health care providers such as Nurse Practitioners and Physician Assistants.

NEXT STEPS

- Outline steps necessary to plan for and implement a single credential verification organization.
