Del Monte is proposing a distribution hub in Delaware because of the state’s prime location to Northeast markets and its close proximity to shipping ports. A third party labor staffing company will hire the blue collar employees. Mr. Pschesang stressed that in addition to the hundreds of people they will employ, they will contract workers to maintain the facility and trucks. Also, federal agencies, such as the USDA and FDA, will have offices on the premises. The company purchased the former AstroPower building, which will be titled under the Applicant’s name.
